

www.touring-artists.info – a portal for the international exchange

Michael Freundt – ITI Germany, President of ENICPA

touring artists, an information portal for artists and creatives working internationally, provides comprehensive information on visas/residence, artist status and contracts, transport/customs, taxes, social security, other insurances, and copyright. Through a joint project of the German Center of the International Theatre Institute (ITI) and the Internationale Gesellschaft der Bildenden Künste (IGBK; English: International Association of Art (IAA) in Germany), these topics have initially been examined for both the performing arts and the visual arts.

Since most questions and answers are relevant regardless of any discipline and the portal is used by different actors of the arts and cultural industries, the information service is being expanded continuously. Michael will inform about the current developments and the exchange with other information portals.

STATUS OF ARTISTS AND CONTRACTS

The status of artists, creatives and persons engaged in the cultural sector may vary by country. When it comes to international work, both individuals and any organizers who invite persons engaged in the cultural sector from abroad will quickly find themselves confronted with questions about status. This is because the respective status is used to derive information about the right to social benefits, as well as answers to questions regarding work permits, compensation, taxes, etc. There are different types of contracts for the various employment relationships in the cultural sector. Especially when the contracting parties engaging in collaboration, joint projects, sales, etc. are based in different countries, several points must be considered.

TAXES - INCOME TAX AND VALUE ADDED TAX

Taxes – both income tax and value added tax – cross the paths of all artists working internationally. One must consider complex but clearly differentiated regulations and procedures.

Example 1:

A director living in the UK receives €8000 for a production in Germany. The income tax must be paid to the British tax authorities. If, however, an actor/actress living in the UK is hired for this production, his/her payment is taxable in Germany. (see "Ausländersteuer"/foreigner tax)

INSURANCES

Insurance issues are of great importance for international artists and creatives. Almost all insurances are voluntary (with a few exceptions, such as automobile insurance and statutory health insurance for employees) and the self-employed are faced with different insurance issues than traditional employees - for example, the need for professional liability insurance. Often, artists and creatives are only confronted with these issues in case of problems or if the foreign partner demands proof of insurance.
